

Communications Policy

Holcim Ltd

We are committed to creating effective communications that enable our stakeholders to make informed decisions about our goals and performance. The following principles shall apply for the Holcim Group.

Open and transparent We are open and transparent in providing continuous and comprehensible information on our performance – both internally and externally.

Impartial and on time We inform our stakeholders, whether shareholders, the capital market, our employees or the general public, impartially and in good time with regard to all material matters.

Accessible Communicating means listening to one another. Our engagement with stakeholders is based on mutual respect and trust and we are committed to cultivating a spirit of open dialogue.

Global and local We are a global Group with companies operating in local markets. Accordingly, our communications must take account of the different environments in which we operate.
